BESKRIVELSE

A declaration of love for the city of Aalborg, written by journalist Britt Nørbak. In this book, she takes you on a trip around Denmark's fourth largest city, transformed in the last decade from a grey industrial hub to a green centre for knowledge and education. The guidebook focuses on Aalborg's recent development, but its most renowned attractions, buildings, sculptures and businesses are of course also represented when Britt Nørbak explores the city in the company of photographer Lars Horn. Follow them around and experience this city of arts and culture, sport and commerce, churches and castles and architectural marvels, and get to know the new waterfront, the many green areas and the unique points of interest that Aalborg has to offer. The book is perfect for slipping into your purse or pocket before a walk or bike ride around Aalborg. With this as a guide, both newcomers and born-and-bred Aalborgersians get to (re)experience the city and view it from a new perspective. Britt Nørbak holds a master's degree in media communication and has been working as a journalist since 1997. She has been living in Aalborg for more than twenty years.
